The image features a central vertical panel of dark brown wood slats. The slats are arranged in a row, with a thin black line separating each one. The wood has a natural grain pattern and a slightly glossy finish. On either side of the wood panel, there is a dense arrangement of artificial-looking green and yellow foliage, possibly a type of ivy or similar leafy plant. The foliage is vibrant and fills the left and right sides of the frame. In the center of the wood panel, the text 'FLUTEER' is written in a large, white, sans-serif font. Below it, 'GD 929' is written in a slightly smaller font, and '(KP64)' is written in the same font size as 'GD 929'. The text is centered horizontally and vertically within the wood panel.
